

Lotus, in the design-conscious Central district, serves spicy Thai curries.

Southeast Asian Boom

Until recently, Hong Kong didn't have many stylish restaurants showcasing the cuisines of Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore and Vietnam. But a number of excellent ones have opened lately.

LOTUS Overseen by Australian expat Adam Baxter, Lotus specializes in modern Thai dishes like lime-cured tuna with rose apple and green mango, or slow-braised beef cheeks in a coconut milk-rich Panang curry with Thai basil and chiles.

DETAILS 37-43 Pottinger St., Central; 011-852-2543-6290.
